Driver guilty in 2 deaths

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus woman convicted of involuntary manslaughter now faces up to 15 years in prison for killing two teenagers in a head-on collision in Westland last August, according to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Alita Bell, 22, was found guilty in Detroit Recorder's Court July 23 on two counts of involuntary manslaughter in the deaths of Amy Lynn Alexander, 18, of Westland and Frances Carol Roehl, 19, of Waterford Township. She claims to not remember driving the car that caused the fatal crash.

According to sheriffs deputies, the fatal collision took place at 2:20 a.m. Aug. 8 on Hines Drive, between Merriam and Ann Arbor Trail. Apparently, Bell and friend Stephen Delossantos, formerly of Livonia, were both in the 1983 Pontiac Firebird which crossed the center line at 79 mph, and caused the head-on crash.

Defense attorney David Blake did raise questions as to whether Bell or Delossantos was driving the car at the time of the crash, as Delossantos, flown in from Florida for the trial, also testified he could not remember who drove the car, according to sources.

The two had been to a Taylor-area bar and were going to Delossantos' apartment when the crash occurred. Witnesses at the bar testified that Bell drove from the bar, sources said.

According to Detective Walter Holowka of the sheriff's department, Bell originally confessed to have driven the car, but said that later she and Delossantos pulled out of the road and switched seats.

He believed it was "inconceivable" that they could remember switching drivers, but would not remember details of the crash or where it occurred.

After the three-day trial, and two hours of deliberation, the jury made their verdict known. Family members of the victims reportedly hailed the decision.

Water is called safe

By BARBARA GOFFMAN
ANP Staff Writer

Residents of Belleville, Romulus and Van Buren Charter Township, should soon discover some improvement in the taste and smell of their tap water, according to the director of the Romulus Department of Public Works (DPW).

An official at the Detroit Water and Sewage Department said the problem should clear up soon.

During the past month, area residents have complained to local water departments about the musty taste and odor of water coming from the tap.

Residents in each area have called their water department officials with questions and complaints about the water, but the local department workers have no control over the problem. They only can advise people not to worry—the water

State Bill affects schools

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

Repercussions of legislation designed to give local students more equal treatment may soon be felt by Romulus schools.

The proposed bill, which has currently been approved by both the House and Senate, is designed to reduce spending disparity among schools statewide. For Romulus, however, the proposal comes in time to be called a catch 22.

After recently climbing out of the depth of poverty (in formula), and becoming one of the "new rich" school districts (out-of-formula), Romulus schools may be asked to give that extra money away before they've really had a chance to enjoy it, according to Dr. William Bedell, superintendent of Romulus Schools.

Its called the Tax-Base Sharing Plan, and it calls for school districts to take half the future growth in new commercial and industrial taxes and share it with others.

Bedell, however, doesn't exactly call it sharing.

"I believe that the plan is a scam, and borders on being unconstitutional," Bedell commented.

"That plan would hurt us worse than it would hurt a Birmingham or Bloomfield Hills school because we would have to levy more than 40 mills to get what they can for less than half of that," Bedell said.

According to State Representative Jim Kosteva (D-Canton), the intent of the plan is to help equalize revenues spent on students in the state schools. "Some schools spend as much as $8,000 on each student while others spend only about $2,000," he said. "This plan will equal out that number so that students everywhere will get an equal chance at an education."

The new sharing plan applies only to future growth so no district would lose its present revenue. In addition, residential and agricultural property taxes would not be affected.

Some out-of-formula districts however, still argue that it's unfair, and that it really doesn't address the serious problem of school finance reform.

"It's patchwork, that's all it is," commented Dr. Dennis O'Neill, superintendent of Wayne-Westland schools. "Someday they will get down to the real business of reorganizing the tax structure in this state. Until then, schools and children who attend them will suffer."

"It does mean reversed disparity for some, but it is good for others," said Daniel P. Gilman, executive director for the Conference of Western Wayne. "It all depends on how you look at it."

"Although it has already been passed by the Senate and the House, their plans differ, and the Conference Committee, made up from members of both, is trying to work out an agreement," Kosteva said. "If it is worked out, schools may see the effects as early as this coming school year."

New legislation could increase cable TV rates

By DOUG CHURCH
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus residents are being urged by local cable officials to speak out against federal legislation that, if approved, would make viewers pay extra to watch "free TV" if they're viewing it on cable.

The proposed legislation is solidly backed by broadcast network officials who are seeking the right to charge cable systems to retransmit their programming. The cable companies would then pass the charge onto consumers, who could end up paying 20 percent more each month to watch network TV on their local system.

This so-called "free TV surcharge" is only one part of the proposed bill dealing with cable re-regulation that was enacted by the Senate Commerce Committee and is now in the hands of Congress.

"It's ridiculous to expect that we should pay to watch a 'free' channel just because we have cable," said Ray Williams, of the Romulus Cable Commission. "I'm sure many of the other residents feel the same way."

"This represents one of the more anti-consumer provisions of the bill," said Kay'elen Perry, general manager of Continental Cablevision which serves 39,000 customers in Dearborn Heights and Westland and approximately 111,000 in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Because the bill could be approved by Congress at any time, Perry is trying to warn customers now. She urges them to write or call their senators and congressmen and voice their opposition. She also said information is being supplied in the next cable statement.

"We're jumping on this quickly because the legislation has the potential to move quickly," Perry said. "We need to let the customers know how dangerous this is. We need to stop the broadcasters before they get out of hand."

The broadcasters include ABC, CBS, NBC and FOX, and in the Detroit area would also

'Future Airport' plans take off

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

Airport officials have shifted expansion plans into high gear as a historic agreement was made concerning a design for the "Terminal of the Future" Tuesday.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara and Ben Hirst, Northwest Airlines vice-president and general counsel, announced that the county and company will proceed with the $10 million programming and design of the future complex at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

If accepted, the final project will cost roughly in excess of $1 billion, according to officials.

"Our plans are to eventually have the best airport on the planet," McNamara said.

Although the county owns and operates Metro, an approval vote must come from airlines serving the airport before such a plan can go into effect. In this case, Northwest, which carries about two-thirds of Metro passengers, had the authority to approve the proposal. If expansion does occur, Northwest will occupy the proposed mid-field terminal, the centerpiece of the plan.

The proposed process will include programming, financial feasibility and preliminary schematics research on what McNamara called "...one of the most ambitious building projects in aviation history."

As part of the process, an organization called the Terminal of the Future Working Group, comprising both Wayne County and Northwest officials will put together a strategic plan for a hub terminal.

"The concept behind airport terminals hasn't changed much since the advent of aviation," McNamara said. "Our plan is to throw out all preconceived notions regarding how an airport terminal is designed, and to start from scratch."

Their goal—to make Metro so efficient and passenger-friendly that people will want to fly through, to and from Detroit.

"We want to be able to process passengers more efficiently and smoothly than in any other hub in the world," Hirst said. "We want to make our services so easy and worry-free that we attract even the most competitive passengers."

"To simplify, our objective is to have no lines for passengers to wait in for baggage, tickets or anything else they may need," McNamara said. "Many people would bypass

Murder charges filed

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

A 31-year-old Romulus man was charged with second-degree murder and possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony in connection with the July 10 death of his long-time friend Randall Peden, 27, of Alabama.

Although he was formerly released from custody due to insufficient evidence of malice or negligence, an additional investigation provided more information which led to issue of the warrant, according to Romulus police.

Maggard was arraigned July 26 at the 34th District Court in Romulus. Bond was set at $50,000 cash.

A preliminary examination has been set for Aug. 7.

The resident of Alabama was apparently here in a reunion with his old friend.

According to police, at about 5:30 p.m. July 10, a call was received from Maggard regarding the shooting in the south end of the city. Police arrived and found Peden shot in the head. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Annapolis Hospital.

Apparently a heated argument arose between the two prior to the accident. According to police, Maggard had taken a .22 caliber pistol from his friend under the belief that Peden was intoxicated and intended to do something foolish.

"Maggard said he had never seen his friend this wild before and he thought taking away the gun would be the best thing," said Romulus Detective Sgt. John Meyers.

Peden, a 6-foot, 6-inch, 325-pound man, then began to actively threaten the life of Maggard and his family, according to Meyers. He began to push and make comments about "blowing them away," Meyers said.

Apparently in fear of his life and that of his family, Maggard took out the gun and allegedly pointed it at the head of his buddy, asking him to listen to reason and walk away.

"Peden then lunged at him and grabbed the gun, triggering it to go off," said Meyers. "He was shot directly in the head."

Maggard was brought into custody and later released due to insufficient evidence to show malice or negligence, according to police.

Hotels victimized by armed robber

Two hotels near the airport were victimized by an armed robber last week, according to Romulus police.

Shortly after midnight July 28, a black male in his mid-to-late 20s entered the Merriman Executive Inn in Romulus, under the pretext of registering for the night, according to police reports.

Believing the man had a weapon, the clerk gave the man money at his request, police said.

The following night at about the same time, the Holiday Inn in Romulus experienced nearly an identical incident.

According to police, the suspect, identified much like the man the night before, entered the hotel under the pretext of registering for the evening. He gave the impression of a weapon, and obtained money from the night clerk, police said.

A witness provided police with information regarding a vehicle parked outside with a waiting passenger.

Later that night, a car matching the description was seen by Wyandotte police departing from the scene of another armed robbery with much the same mode of operation at the Budgetel Inn in Southgate.

A high-speed chase ensued, and ended when the suspect vehicle crashed at the end of a road, police said.

The two suspects are now in a downriver hospital. The man fitting the description of the armed robber is in serious condition and not expected to live, police said.

Survey to impact local residents

Local representatives of the U.S. Census Bureau will begin visiting selected Romulus household Aug. 1 to conduct a survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP).

SIPP is a nationwide continuing survey introduced in the fall of 1983, and is one of the largest in the nation with about 34,000 households participating.

The survey will cover such items as jobs and earning, how taxes affect personal spending and the economic effects of unemployment, disability and retirement.

According to officials, information gathered from the survey will help policy makers and administrators determine how well government programs are serving the public and how changes in programs and policies will affect the public.

Seniors offered health check

A free blood pressure reading will be conducted Aug. 5 at the Romulus Senior Center.

The program will be conducted from 1 to 2 p.m., and all Romulus seniors are invited to attend.

Readings will be done on a first come, first serve basis.

Assessors manual now available

As re-inspection of houses throughout the city continues, an additional Volume I of the State Assessors Manual has been made available at the Romulus Library.

The book explains how assessment of agricultural and residential property is calculated. The only other manual available in the city can be viewed at the department of assessment at City Hall.

The manual was donated to the library by Judy Frederick.

Quilting bee to last all night

The Romulus Recreation Department will be hosting an all night quilting bee Aug. 16.

The fee is $2 per person and will begin at 6 p.m. and continue until morning.

Participants must bring the project of their choice including all supplies needed to work on that project. A sample quilt using a new machine-sewn pattern is available for inspection at the recreation department, along with a list of supplies needed to complete that project.

A step in time

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

History certainly is repeating itself in Romulus.

A one-room schoolhouse built in 1839 is the setting. An adventure back in time is the plot.

With memorabilia dating back to the 1800s, the Romulus museum will offer a host of vintage "prizes" for visitors' entertainment.

Scheduled to open Sept. 8, the museum is now nearly complete.

"After nearly six years of work, we're finally almost done," said Pearl Varner of the Romulus Historical Society. "It's a great feeling knowing that all of our work will soon pay off."

Purchased by the city in January of 1986, the old building was moved from the opposite end of the city to its current location next to the Romulus Post Office on Hunt Street.

It was at that time that the Historical Commission and volunteers from the Historical Society began working together to produce this "work of art," according to Varner.

"With a collection of state grants and donations from businesses and individuals, we began to restore the building," Varner said. "It was a long, hard process but finally we finished, and it now looks the same as depicted in the Romulus history books."

From the outside, the building appears out of place in time, but it's surprisingly modern within.

"The inside was redone so the only old things now in there are the artifacts themselves," Varner said.

Containing everything from photographs of early Romulus settlers to memorabilia from WWI and WWII, the museum tells a story of the forefathers of the city.

"The only thing we would like to make our collection complete would be more artifacts from the bomber plant era," said Varner. "We would greatly appreciate any donations of that kind."

The grand opening ceremony will begin at noon Sept. 8, with a host of early American crafters, Indian dancers and Civil War buffs entertaining. The ribbon-cutting ceremony will take place at 1 p.m. complete with the unveiling of a donor plaque.

Everyone will then be welcome to step back in time and view the vintage artifacts within the museum.

"We couldn't have done it without the support of the mayor, the City Council and the donors," Varner said. "It's been a community project, well worth the effort."

Anyone with information regarding bomber plant era artifacts, can contact a museum representative at 697-9628.

Local beauties attend pageant

Joseph and Miriam Duffy of Romulus will be taking three of their current 27 Siamese cats to the Cobo Cat Show Aug. 3 and 4.

Grand Champion Shawnee, who recently won an award for "Best Cat" in the all-breed competition, will be one of the three. Champion MiMi and premier Can't Touch This will also be shown, and each will hopefully score well, according to Joseph Duffy.

"These are three of our healthiest, most beautiful cats, and we hope to do well with all three at this upcoming competition," Duffy said.

The Duffys began showing nearly three years ago after Miriam received a Siamese for her birthday.

"We certainly never planned on having this many cats, but we enjoyed showing the first one so much that we decided to begin breeding, and have shown many since then," Joseph said.

With nine breeding females and three males, the Duffys always have kittens underfoot. In fact, there are currently 14.

"We sell most of them, but only if we think they're going to a good home, and with a stipulation that they must be spayed or neutered," Joseph said.

In the meantime, all but the males are allowed to roam free within the Duffy home.

"There are cats everywhere, but they let us live here with them," Duffy joked. "It's a great deal for them - they get the steak and we get the hamburger!"

ongoing revenue stream," Perry said. "Network shares have decreased because cable is taking over a greater share of the viewers. That has to hurt the network broadcasters. Advertisers are interested in how many pairs of eyes are watching their commercials and they will go to who controls the biggest shares of the market."

The proposed legislation, said Perry, "doesn't bode well for the future," because free TV as we know it may be in jeopardy.

"For the first time in history, cable customers will end up paying for free television simply because they choose to watch an improved picture on cable," she said. "If the broadcast networks are allowed to charge cable customers for the same shows, and the same number of commercials they already receive, how long will it be until non-cable customers will have to pay for the privilege of watching 'free TV'?"

Other cable officials in the area also warned of the consequences of the legislation.

Lisa Boland, general manager of Omnicom Cablevision, said companies are not required to carry broadcast channels but do because of the consumer demand for them and, in the case of Omnicom, because of the high quality reception of those channels in the area.

Omnicom serves 35,000 customers in Romulus, Belleville and the townships of Van Buren, Canton, Northville and Plymouth.

But, she said, "if broadcast networks started to charge for carrying the channels on our system, then there would be a good possibility that they would be dropped from our lineup."

"I hope the legislation would give us the freedom to decide what channels to keep on our system lineup," Boland added. "I know our customers wouldn't want to see a large increase in their charges."

Creek clean-up drive begins

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

Local officials assembled Monday to kick-off a plan designed to clean up Ecorse Creek.

The aim of the community representatives is to implement a clean-up drive to rival the established Rouge River Rescue annual campaigns, according to Ruth Canfield, Dearborn Heights city council member.

"It's high time to make the public and the government aware of problems caused by the creek, and to start taking steps in the right direction to clean it up," Canfield said.

Although there have been intermittent clean up efforts during the past, the creek is still contaminated. Studies which date back to 1969 characterize lower reaches of the creek as "...suffering from gross degradation," according to Canfield.

"In general, the overall water quality in the Ecorse Creek system is quite poor," reports state.

The creek is 12 miles long and begins in Wayne and Romulus. It then winds through seven other communities before emptying into the Detroit River in Wyandotte.

According to Patricia Enright, legislative assistant with the Wayne County Commission, the creek is considered to be the "Wayne County drain."

"It allows water from bad storms or heavy rains to drain into the Detroit River," she said.

But blockages caused by debris have caused overflows that haven't allowed the creek to do its intended job.

The North Branch Ecorse Creek overflows nearly every year causing, on average, more than 1,000 basements in the affected areas to flood with water from city sewage systems as well as ground flood water from the river, according to statistics.

"There have been problems with soil erosion, flooding and just plain contamination throughout the years and it's high time we did something about it," said Canfield.

In collaboration with her concerns and those of local government and community groups, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers performed a study and concluded that in addition to clean up, several retention basins were needed to stop the water from overflowing. However, since each will cost in excess of $6 million, only one is scheduled to be built.

"Construction will soon begin on the basin which will be located in Dearborn Heights and it's a great step in the right direction, but it's simply not enough," Canfield said.

"Hopefully, through our efforts, the public and the government will become more aware of the danger of this problem and of the importance to have it resolved as soon as possible."

In the meantime, Canfield and others will continue to work on irrigating the creek.

Spearheaded by Canfield and Wayne County Commissioner Susan Hubbard, the clean-up group is known as "The Friends of Ecorse Creek." It comprises public officials, civic organizations and volunteers in the seven communities along Ecorse Creek.

Although there are not many volunteers to date, the group hopes to gain enough recognition to conduct a massive clean up every year.

The first clean up is scheduled for Sept. 7. Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer may call Jeffrey Martell, director of Romulus community planning recycling at 942-7592.

"We hope that everyone who possibly can pitches in to do their part in making it a cleaner, safer creek," Canfield said.

Water

is safe, and offer steps individuals can follow to make the water more potable, according to Jim Panos, director of the water and sewer department in Romulus.

The water problem is caused by Geosmin, a natural, non-toxic substance found in the vegetation growing in the Canadian side of the Detroit River, the source area for downriver water, said Ray Striz, the assistant director of Van Buren public services.

This is the second consecutive summer area residents are experiencing this dilemma, he said.

The combination of the hot weather and the accidental introduction about three years ago of zebra mussels into the Canadian side of the Detroit River are cited as the combined cause of the musty taste. The mussels take out impurities in the water, allowing river plant life to grow at an increased rate. Geosmin is found in these plants.

Normally, the Detroit Water and Sewage Department, which supplies Belleville, Romulus and Van Buren with water, is able to eradicate the problems the increased Geos-min levels cause. This summer, however, the hot weather has so increased water demand that Detroit Water workers have not had the time to treat the water long enough to eliminate the non-hazardous smell and taste, Striz said.

About 30 Romulus residents have complained to the Romulus DPW this summer, although none have called in the past three weeks, Panos said. A dozen people from throughout Van Buren have phoned township hall this summer with questions or complaints about the water problem. In Belleville, the complainants have numbered 10, City Manager Bob Herron said.

Despite the number of complaints city officials have received regarding the water taste and smell, an informal survey of residents found none who had any problems with their tap water.

Van Buren officials are testing water from throughout the township to try to determine if there is something they can do to improve the water quality, Striz said, but so far they have been unsuccessful. They recommend people boil their tap water and then cool it via refrigeration to make it more potable.

Residents also may want to purchase bottled water until the problem subsides, Panos said.

At the same time discussions are under way concerning future plans, architects and consultants will also be evaluated.

Appraisal clinic proves popular

By DOUG CHURCH
ANP Staff Writer

There were rugs, lamps and jewelry and plenty of other antiques to be appraised and admired Saturday at the Canton Township Building.

The event was the annual DuMouchelle's Antique Appraisal Clinic hosted by the Canton Historical Society.

According to Marta McCabe, secretary of the historical society board, between 40-50 people participated in the clinic, which earned nearly $500 for the historical society. The money will be placed in a general fund which helps support the Canton Historical Museum.

McCabe said attendance was down a bit from the approximately 60 people who participated last year.

Because the appraisal clinic was limited to hand-carried items only, most of the objects were small, but McCabe noted that one man brought in a collection of Indian rugs.

The annual event was just one of the series of fundraising events of the historical society. Officials from DuMouchelle's donated their time and expertise to the event.

CITY OF ROMULUS APPENDIX A - ZONING ARTICLE XXVII AMENDMENT 1.118

An Ordinance To Amend the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Romulus Code of Ordinances by Repealing Article XXVII In Its Entirety and Adopting a New Article XXVII Providing for Procedures and Standards For Uses Subject to Special Approvals.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

Section 1. SHORT TITLE: This Ordinance shall be known and cited as the Amended Zoning Ordinance.

Section 2. Article XXVII, Section 27.01 through Section 27.02 is hereby repealed and a new Article XXVII, Section 27.01 through 27.04 is adopted to read as follows:

Section 27.01 INTENT

The formulation and enactment of the Zoning Ordinance is based upon the division of the City into districts, in each of which are permitted specified uses which are mutually compatible. In addition to such permitted compatible uses, however, there are certain other uses which may be necessary or desirable to allow in certain locations within certain districts, but because of their actual or potential impacts on neighboring uses or public facilities, there is a need to carefully regulate them with respect to their location for the protection of the community. These uses, due to their peculiar locational need or the nature of the service offered, may have to be established in a district where they cannot be reasonably allowed as a permitted use.

Section 27.02 AUTHORITY

The City Council of the city of Romulus shall have the sole authority to approve, approve with conditions or disapprove all special approval land uses. Prior to any action by the City Council, the City Planning Commission shall hold a public hearing, prepare a report of their findings and submit a recommendation to the City Council. In consideration of all applications for special approval land uses, the Planning Commission shall review each case individually as to its appropriateness and must find affirmatively each of the general standards of Section 27.03 and to the specific standards enumerated for that use. Special approval land uses shall be subject to conditions, restrictions, and safeguards deemed necessary to the interest of public health, safety and welfare.

For all special approval land uses, a site plan conforming to the requirements and procedures of Article IV, Section 4.04 is required. Special approval shall be granted only for those uses specified in the application and shown on the site plan. If the proposed uses and plans meet the general and specific standards of the Zoning Ordinance, the City Council shall approve the use.

Section 27.03 GENERAL STANDARDS

In considering all applications for special approval land uses, the City Council shall review each case individually and must find affirmatively each of the following standards:

A. The proposed special approval land use shall be of such location, size and character that it will be in harmony with the appropriate and orderly development of the surrounding neighborhood and/or vicinity and applicable regulations of the zoning district (including, but not limited to, any applicable performance standards) in which it is to be located.

B. The proposed use shall be of a nature that will make vehicular and pedestrian traffic no more hazardous than is normal for the district involved, taking into consideration vehicular turning movements in relations to routes of traffic flow, proximity and relationship to intersections, adequacy of sight distances, location and access of off-street parking and provisions for pedestrian traffic, with the particular attention to minimizing child-vehicle interfacing.

C. The proposed uses shall be designed as to the location, size, intensity, site layout and periods of operation of any such proposed use to eliminate any possible nuisance emanating therefrom which might be noxious to the occupants of any other nearby permitted uses, whether by reason of dust, noise, fumes, vibration, smoke or lights.

D. The proposed use shall be such that the proposed location and height of buildings or structures, the location, nature and height of walls, fences and landscaping, and the location, size or height of signs will not interfere with or discourage the appropriate development and use of adjacent land and building or unreasonably affect their value.

E. The proposed use shall relate harmoniously with the physical and economic aspects of adjacent land uses as regards prevailing shopping habits, convenience of access by prospective patrons, continuity of development, and need for particular services, facilities and utilities in specific areas of the City.

F. The proposed use is so designed, located, planned and to be operated that the public health, safety and welfare will be protected.

G. The proposed use shall not be detrimental or injurious to the neighborhood within which it is to be located, nor shall such use operate as a deterrent to future land uses permitted within said zoning district, and shall be in harmony with the general purpose and intent of the Zoning Ordinance.

Section 27.04 PROCEDURES

An application for the approval of a special approval land use shall be made by an owner, lessee or other person with a legal interest in the property who has the owner's consent to file the application. Such application shall be accompanied by the site plan and the necessary fees.

A. Public Hearing

The Planning Commission shall investigate the circumstances of each case and hold a public hearing on each application for special approval land use in accordance with the following procedures as established by State Law:

Upon receipt of an application for a special approval land use, one (1) notice that a request for special land use approval has been received shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the City and shall be sent by mail or personal delivery to the owners of property for which approval is being considered, to all persons to whom real property is assessed within 300 feet of the boundary of the property in question, and to occupants of all

CITY OF ROMULUS ATTENTION ROMULUS CITIZENS

Starting May 7, 1991 through Mid-August, 1991, Inspection Crews will be conducting a physical survey of the Romulus Sanitary Sewer System. This Study will involve the opening and inspecting of sanitary manholes in your neighborhood.

An important task of the survey will be the "SMOKE TESTING" of the sewer system to locate defects. You may see smoke coming from vent stacks on houses or holes in the ground.

The smoke varies in color from white to gray depending on density and lighting. It is NON-TOXIC, NON-STAINING, HAS NO ODOR, AND CREATES NO FIRE HAZARD. The smoke should not enter your home unless the plumbing is not functioning properly.

The notice shall:

1. Describe the nature of the special approval land use request.
2. Indicate the property which is the subject of the special approval land use request.
3. State when and where the special approval land use request shall be considered.
4. Indicate when and where written comments will be received concerning the request.

The Planning Commission shall hold the public hearing and request recommendations from City staff and County, State or Federal agencies, as they deem necessary. The Commission shall review the application and site plan and make their recommendation along with any suggested conditions they deem necessary. The minutes of the hearing, the research, any written communications and the recommendation of the Commission, together with their findings of fact, shall be submitted to the City Council as part of the official record.

B. Approval.

If the City Council deems it necessary, they may hold a second public hearing. If they do, then only notification by newspaper notice of the hearing shall be necessary.

Upon the findings required by Section 27.02, if the City Council determines that the particular special approval land use(s) should be allowed, it shall endorse its approval thereof on the written application and clearly set forth in writing the particular use(s) which have been allowed. Upon approval of a special approval land use by City Council and approval of the site plan by the Planning Commission, the Building Inspector may issue a building permit in conformity with the particular special approval land use. In all cases where a particular special approval has been granted as provided herein, application for a building permit in pursuance thereof must be made and received by the City not later than one (1) year thereafter, or such approval shall automatically be revoked; provided, however the City Council may grant an extension thereof for good cause shown under such terms and conditions and for such period of time not exceeding six (6) months as it shall determine to be necessary and appropriate. Any special approval land use that is discontinued or abandoned for a period exceeding one (1) year shall have its approval automatically revoked.

C. Denial.

If the City Council shall determine that the particular special approval land use(s) requested does not meet the standards of this Ordinance, or otherwise will tend to be injurious to the public health, safety, welfare, or orderly development of the City, it shall deny the application in writing which clearly sets forth the reason(s) for such denial.

D. Conditions.

The Planning Commission may recommend and City Council may impose such conditions or limitations in granting approval as may be permitted by State Law and this Ordinance which it deems necessary to fulfill the spirit and/or purpose of this Ordinance.

The conditions may include conditions necessary to ensure that public services and facilities affected by a proposed land use or activity will be capable of accommodating increased service and facility loads caused by the land use or activity, to protect the natural environment and conserve natural resources and energy, to ensure compatibility with adjacent uses of land, and to promote the use of land in a socially and economically desirable manner. Conditions imposed shall do all the following:

1. Be designed to protect natural resources, the health, safety, and welfare as well as the social and economic well being of those who will use the land use or activity under consideration, residents and landowners immediately adjacent to the proposed land use or activity, and the community as a whole.
2. Be related to the valid exercise of the police power and purposes which are affected by the proposed use or activity.
3. Be necessary to meet the intent and purpose of the zoning regulations; be related to the standards established in this Ordinance for the land use or activity under consideration; and be necessary to ensure compliance with those standards.

The conditions imposed with respect to the approval of a land use or activity shall be recorded in the record of the approval action and shall remain unchanged unless the original process is followed. The City Council shall maintain a record of changes granted in conditions.

E. Appeals.

Appeals from decisions under this Article may be taken to Circuit Court.

Section 3. CONFLICTING PROVISIONS REPEALED: Should any section, clause or provision of this ordinance be declared by the Court to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of this ordinance as a whole or any part thereof, other than the part so declared to be invalid.

Section 4. EFFECTIVE DATE: This ordinance shall become effective immediately upon publication in the official newspaper of general circulation.

I, Linda R. Choate, CMC, Clerk for the City of Romulus, Michigan do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an ordinance duly adopted by the Romulus City Council at its regular meeting held on the 1st day of July, 1991.

Waste not

Environmental issues are career

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Until recently, Tina Sanders didn't see herself as someone making decisions about the environment. What is even more surprising to her is that the decisions she makes affect 18 Wayne County communities.

Now, as environmental director of the Conference of Western Wayne, Sanders spends nearly all her time working on improving the environment.

It wasn't until she was a senior at Belleville High School that Sanders realized she had an interest in environmental issues.

"I really became interested in the environment after I was in Marshall Weid's science class at Belleville High School," she said. "He was such a dynamic teacher. He really got me involved."

After she left high school, Sanders furthered her interest by enrolling in resource management classes at Michigan State University.

Sanders credits her advisor at MSU for keeping her on track. "He was also very interested in the environment and helped convince me that I should go into resource management," she said.

And from there, everything seemed to fall in place. As soon as she graduated, Sanders found a job with the Conference of Western Wayne, an organization that brings 18 western Wayne county communities together and try and resolve common issues.

Sanders is responsible for helping each community assemble a solid waste plan.

"It works along the lines of basic common sense," she said. "If one city is getting ready to try a recycling plan, then we use information from other communities that have already started a recycling plan."

She said that all of the information CWW keeps on solid waste plans and recycling helps other communities see where some others have made mistakes.

Sanders spends a lot of her time going from community to community staging recycling presentations. She also advises local companies and organizations on how to start recycling programs.

"It really helps to get people involved," she said. "It helps to promote new programs that our communities are trying to implement."

Each year environmental issues become bigger and bigger, Sanders said.

Manslaughter is charged in death

By BARBARA GOFFMAN
ANP Staff Writer

Van Buren Township resident Richard Elton McDonald was bound over to Washtenaw County Circuit Court last week to face manslaughter charges, following a preliminary examination.

McDonald will be arraigned Aug. 4 on the charges stemming from a July 5 hit-and-run accident that resulted in the death of Gregory Arthur Gotham of Ypsilanti. McDonald was driving on a suspended license at the time, police officials said.

His bail was set at $100,000 by Judge John B. Collins of 14-B District Court. McDonald has not as yet posted bail.

Eric Guttenberg, assistant prosecuting attorney, said he believes Collins set such a high bail because McDonald's driving record has proven he is a menace on the roads.

McDonald served two years of a one-to-five year sentence for drunk driving from 1988-1990. He was paroled last September. McDonald previously was convicted of three alcohol-related incidents between 1984-1988.

"I think the judge was persuaded that if he let him go, McDonald would pose a serious threat to the community," Guttenberg said.

Testimony at the July 24 preliminary examination indicated alcohol was a factor in the accident.

Philip Krause, 22, who was a passenger in McDonald's car at the time of the accident, testified that McDonald had imbibed some mixed drinks sometime before the accident, Guttenberg said.

I heard him say he had hit a guy on a motorcycle and thought he was dead.

A second witness, Pamela Sue Harrington, who is a friend of McDonald's girlfriend, testified she overheard McDonald admit to his mother on her telephone, soon after the accident, that he had been drinking and driving and had hit a motorcycle rider, according to court records.

Harrington said McDonald went to her home soon after the time when the accident occurred and appeared upset.

"Rick was really upset and shaking. He said he had wrecked Yvette's (McDonald's girlfriend) car and needed to use the phone. His eyes were all red, but I'm not sure if that was from crying or from alcohol," Harrington testified.

"I heard him say he had hit a guy on a motorcycle and thought he was dead. After he got off the phone, I told him to call the police but he said he wouldn't because he had no driver's license and didn't want to spend the rest of his life in jail," Harrington said.

Judge chosen in Barden slaying case

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A 19-year-old Detroit woman and her 23-year-old cousin were scheduled to be arraigned yesterday in Recorder's Court in Detroit.

Keya Renee Moss and Maurice Ladell Lincoln were to appear at 9 a.m. in room 704 before Judge David Kerwin to be arraigned on various charges in connection with the murder of Bernie Barden.

Barden, 55, was stabbed to death during the early morning hours of July 8 in a party store parking lot on Inkster Road.

Moss and Lincoln will be arraigned in Recorder's Court on the information from the court proceedings conducted by Judge Sylvia James of the 22nd District Court.

Moss is accused of grabbing a butcher knife she had in her car and plunging the weapon into the victim during a fight in the parking lot involving her cousin and three others. She is being held on an open murder charge, without bond, in Wayne County Jail.

Lincoln used a weapon during the fight and fired between two to three shots at the victim, according to police. However, during testimony in the lower court, Lincoln's attorney, Ronald McDuffie, told the court that his client was attempting to act as "a peacemaker" during the altercation.

In a statement to police, Lincoln had told them that he did have a weapon but he fired it in the air. He is charged with assault with the intent to commit murder and felony firearms.

Barden, the older brother of cable TV entrepreneur, Don Barden, was a passenger in a car driven by Leatrice Snipes.

Snipes testified that she and Barden decided to go to the party store to purchase some pop. Barden fell asleep during the ride to Fast Frank's Party store and when the couple arrived, Snipes decided to go into the store alone.

As she approached the front door to the store, she was assaulted by a black male and, believing robbery was the motive for the assault, Snipes said, she tossed some money to the street. She was then struck over the head, she told the court and was "dazed". She said she didn't see the fatal assault on Barden.

Barden, apparently hearing the screams for help, got out of the car and was immediately confronted by three to four men.

A fight followed and during the fight shots rang out.

Police believe that Moss grabbed a knife from her car, rushed Barden and stabbed him. Barden had two stab wounds to the chest and stomach area, which proved fatal.

When Moss returned to her car she told friends that she thought she had killed someone because she didn't like "anyone messin' or (strong expletive deleted) with her cousin".

Moss surrendered to Inkster police the following day. Lincoln turned up at the Inkster police station on July 10 and surrendered.

Wayne County Assistant Prosecutor Gary LaBret prosecuted the case for the state. He had no comments after the district court hearing.

An attempt by Moss' attorney Thaddeus K'Dean to have his client's charge reduced from open murder to second-degree murder was denied by the judge.

In what appears to be a related development, three men who had beaten up an Inkster man prior to the homicide in the parking lot will be charged, according to Inkster Detective James Horne, who is handling the investigation.

Although he refused to identify the suspects or reveal if they will be charged in the Barden case, Horne said that the suspects are accused of assaulting Jack Holt.

Holt, 41, was in the store earlier the night Barden was killed. Police were not able to interview him because the victim had been in the intensive care unit at Annapolis Hospital for about four days.

The suspects will be charged with aggravated assault, Horne said.

"There was no known reason for these three suspects to attack this man," Horne said. "The victim did nothing to provoke the attack."

Asked whether these suspects took part in the fight that led to Barden's death, Horne declined comment due to the status of the legal proceedings in the case.

Trustee's daughter is attacked

The 18-year-old daughter of Sumpter Township Trustee Arness Cox was the victim of assault and robbery July 21 at the Shell Gas Station on the Interstate-94 Service Drive at Belleville Road.

Anne Marie Cox was working alone at the station at 1:30 a.m. when Jacques Groening, 21, of Ypsilanti Township, allegedly entered the store to buy cigarettes. While Cox was ringing up the items, Groening is alleged to have grabbed her and slashed her throat with a straight razor. Cox broke away from her attacker who then lunged toward her, she told police. She escaped the store and flagged down a passing motorist who drove her to the Belleville Police Station, said Det. Cpl. Gregory Laurain of the Van Buren Police Dept.

Cox received some stitches for her wound, Laurain said.

There was no indication of any intent of robbery prior to the attack on Cox, the officer added. Groening was arrested shortly after the incident at the Willow Run Food Market with four quarts of Shell Oil, which he was putting into his car.

He was charged with assault to do great bodily harm less than murder. He wasn't charged for the armed robbery at the time because the Van Buren Police Department was unable to determine if the oil Groening possessed came from the robbed Shell Station.

Since then, however, that determination has been made and charges will be remanded to include armed robbery at the preliminary examination July 31.

Groening was arraigned July 22 at the 34th District Court. He was offered bail at $25,000 without a 10-percent cash bond but had not posted it at press time.

Drains Run Slow?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.

Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.

Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel in the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.

In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to root-er your pipes. An expensive, temporary measure.

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!

Saves Money. A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, it would take over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.

Safe Too. Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations. Some may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course, all plumbing.

So, if your drains are giving you a SIGNAL, act now. Get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean today! Available at:

Turned on but tuned out

The proposed legislation allowing on-air broadcasters to begin charging cable television operators for the privilege of retransmitting their signals has us reeling.

Not satisfied or able to manage their businesses with the $25 or so billion dollars in advertising revenues received last year, the broadcast executives now want to charge cable companies for the privilege of enhancing their programming signals and sending them to subscribers who will view the commercials which paid for the production initially.

Sound confusing? Perhaps that's the idea.

Broadcasters were opposed to cable television proliferating throughout the country when the movement for urban cable operations began a decade or so ago. Now that cable is an integral part of the American television viewers' life, broadcast executives have decided there must be a way to make some money from it. Sort of the old When life gives you lemons, make lemonade philosophy. Only this time, the cable subscribers paying the monthly bills get the pits.

If cable companies are forced to buy the free, on-air television signals so they are able to enhance, strengthen and improve it for retransmission through the cable system, that expense will be borne by the subscriber paying for the service.

Cable executives predict that this increase could be as much as 20-percent of monthly cable bills and that such a free TV surcharge, as it is referred to, would cost as much as $3 billion annually.

They also suggest that as this legislation is now in Congress, approval of the proposal could come at any time. A distressing thought, indeed.

Cable television subscribers will either be forced to pay for the local network affiliate channels, 2, 4, and 7 in our area, or the cable companies can simply refuse to pay the fees and drop these channels from the lineup. In that instance, those with cable who wanted to view these channels would have to do so with the aid of an outside antenna and without the enhancement of signal cable transmission provides. Perhaps a switch could be installed, some television executives suggest, allowing viewers to alternate between on-air and cable television. Of course, that installation, too, will have a price tag and no one disputes that an outside antenna will become necessary, if on-air stations are dropped from the cable schedule.

Nobody will be happy.

While we are all for the free enterprise system and certainly understand the desire of the networks to sell their programming, it seems a poor business decision. The commercial advertising which pays for network programming is seen by cable viewers. That's what the advertiser pays for, exposure. To limit viewers access to those commercial messages by making it difficult to view the network channels or having viewers pay for the privilege of seeing commercials seems ludicrous to us. Aren't their advertising rates based on the number of rating points or viewership of the programming?

With planning like this, it's no wonder cable television has won the loyalty and the dollars of the viewing public.

We wish him well

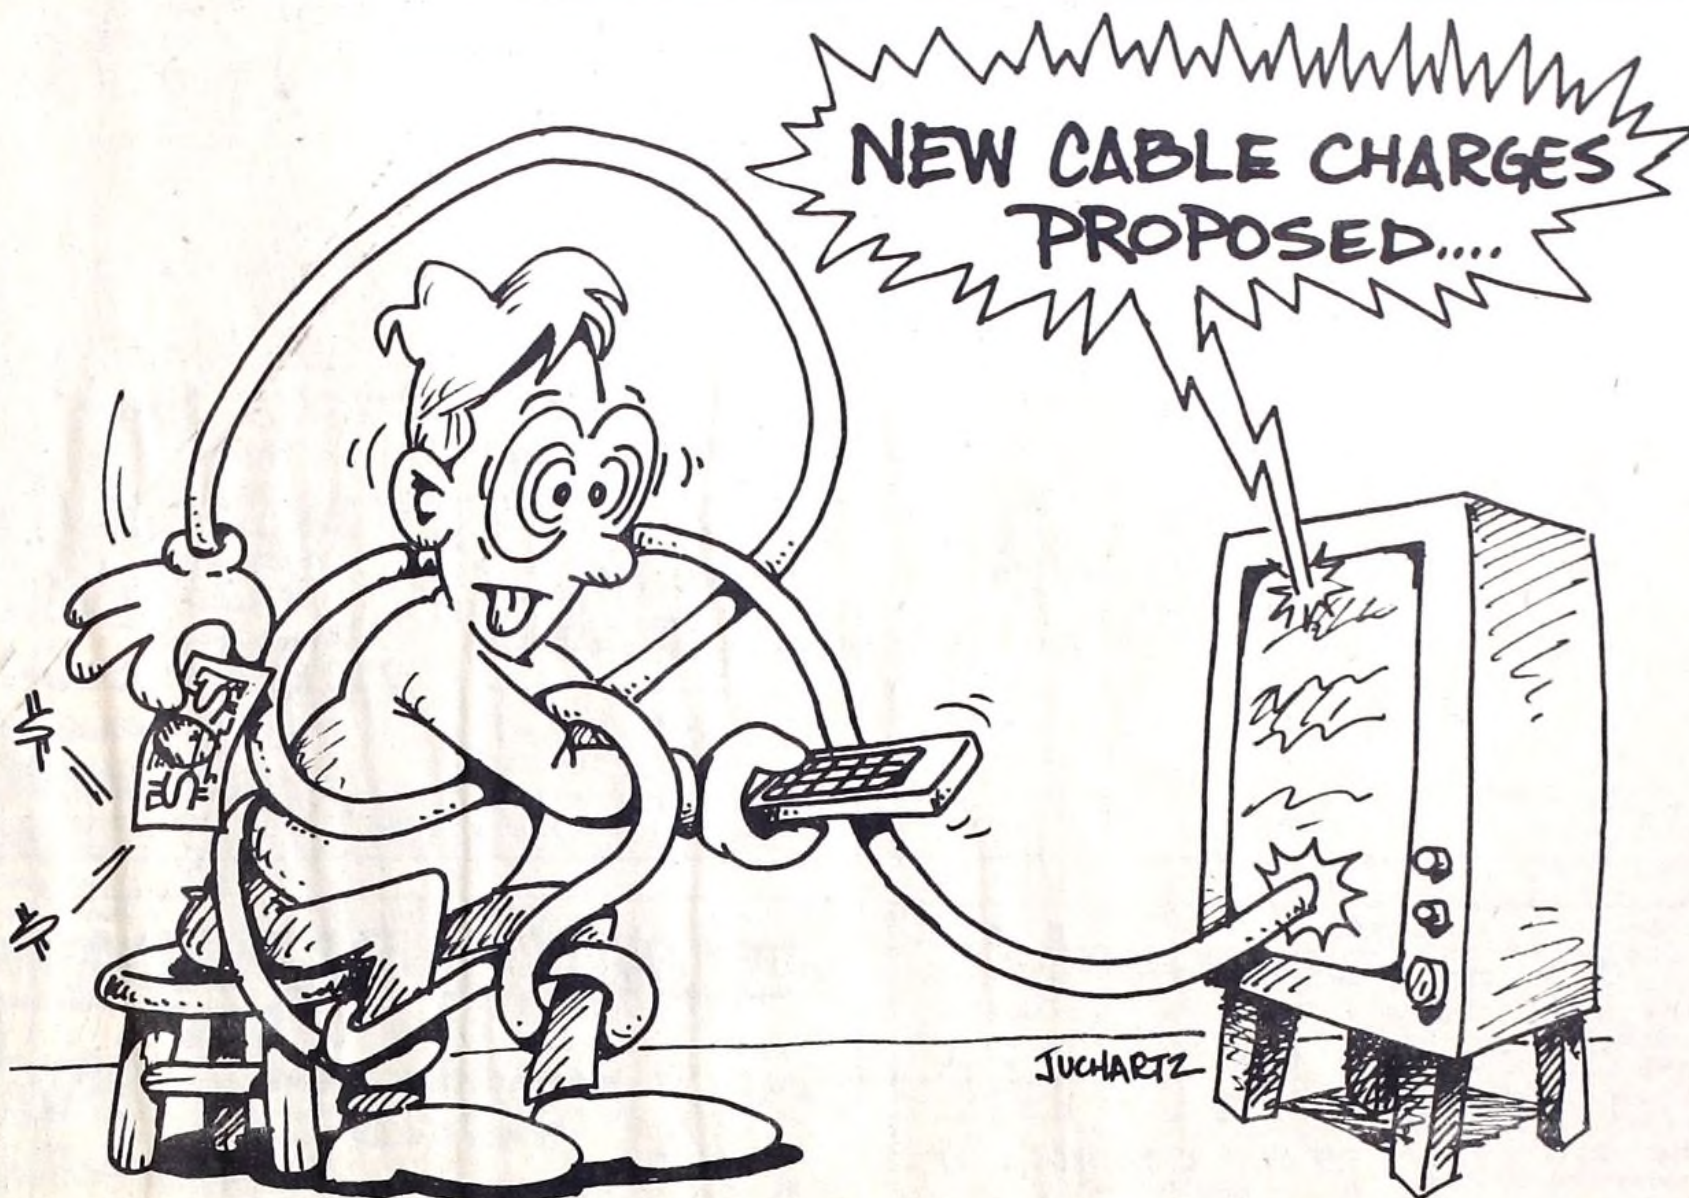

A dear and respected friend, John Sterling, has announced his impending retirement from his position as information officer for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

For more than 32 years, Sterling has provided information about the parks and the programs of the authority to the press and media. He has also been responsible for the newsletter sent to park users and has coordinated publicity for events at the parks. All of this he has done with a style and dignity unmatched by most in his field.

John Sterling brought an element of quiet pride and thoughtfulness to every project on which he worked. Through various directors and commissioners, John Sterling remained a constant and trusted source for news and information about the authority and the events there.

Working with him was a pleasure nearly every reporter and editor in the area experienced. He was that rare information officer, a man to be trusted at his word.

His professionalism, experience and dedication will be sorely missed. We wish him well in his retirement. He certainly has earned it.

Teen center, schools information purposes questioned

To the editor:

Just how aware are Romulus citizens of what is happening around them? Let's find out in this survey.

1. Do you know why the "teen" health center that many Romulus citizens strongly opposed is called the Romulus "Adolescent" Health Center? Could it be because of the added leeway afforded by the term "adolescent" rather than the restrictiveness of the word "teen"?

In a May 23, 1991 Romulus Roman article it states: "In January 1990, the school board approved a resolution to lower the age eligibility to 10 years old, which enabled the center to help youngsters in the elementary schools as well as the junior and high schools."

A 10-year-old is hardly a teen, is it? Objections to the teen health center include referrals for abortion via second parties, such as outside agencies and offering "confidential" counseling to minors in five crucial areas without parental knowledge or consent. Parents should be notified of every health decision regarding their children, I believe.

2. Do you know that kids are being "trained" to counsel other kids in this center? This is dangerous at best as unqualified persons counsel others without any medical degrees in psychology or psychiatry. It is the "blind" leading the "blind".

3. Did you know that a law passed on March 28, 1991, requires each pupil in grades six through 12 receive written information at the start of each school year regarding the issue of abortion? This means 10 and 11 year olds.

4. Is it merely coincidence that two months prior to this bill allowing abortion information in schools, the age of accessibility in the Romulus Adolescent Health Center was dropped to 10 years old. I think not.

Did you further know that another law was passed in June, 1991 which states that schools do not have to give abortion information to kids in schools.

Somewhere along the line, schools have shifted their attention from actually teaching children to "treating" children. No longer is academic teaching primary, but health issues. It is not the purpose of a school to make health decisions for children, to offer medical treatment or amateur therapy sessions, to make referrals for health treatments to any particular agency, or to undermine parental authority or assault the family unit by usurping parental rights. And yet Romulus schools have assumed this role as well as other schools.

Parents are urged to become informed regarding their children's educational lives. Your child's future depends on this.

How did the educational process become so badly distorted? That's another story.

The Romulus schools do not have to give out abortion information at the schools in September. The choice is up to Romulus citizens.

Gun laws irk resident

To the editor:

Since when is the city of Belleville in the business of gun control? If not I would like an explanation why a law-abiding citizen can't get a permit to purchase a handgun?

Communities around Belleville are issuing permits and not using the excuse of possible litigation if some nut should happen to get a permit.

There is no requirement that a person must prove that he or she does not have a mental problem. As for a felon getting a permit, it's another felony to lie on the application for a purchase permit.

This is unlawful gun control by Belleville, pure and simple.

Student expresses millage gratitude

To the editor:

Speaking on behalf of all the students at Wayne Memorial High School, I would personally like to thank the voters in the city of Wayne who said "yes" to the recent millage election.

You have helped us have a brighter future, while at the same time assuring the city of Wayne to a higher position on the economic ladder. Like surrounding high schools, Wayne Memorial High School now offers a wide variety of extra-curricular activities and classroom studies.

Students will have a bus to ride to school on cold winter days. And, perhaps most important, our college accreditation will be kept up.

Thanks also go to The Wayne Eagle for their support in the millage election as well. You've all given the student body at Wayne High a head start toward a great year.

Last call for City Championship tourney golfers Deadline to enter 32nd classic is Friday

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

This is the last call for golfers who plan to compete in the 1991 City Championship Golf Tournament.

Golfers have until 5 p.m. Friday to register for the two-day, 36-hole competitions. The city championships will be decided next weekend, Aug. 10 and 11, at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township.

The tournament is open to all men and women amateur golfers who reside in the cities of Wayne, Westland, Romulus, Inkster, and Canton Township. There is also an independent flight for non-residents.

"We have had a pretty solid response from the golfers this year, however, some of the familiar names appear to be missing," said Bill Hawley, tournament director. "They may be in the pile. I have not looked at all of the entries at this time."

In order to enter the 32nd annual competitions, golfers must fill out the entry blank accompanying this story and mail it, along with the $45 entry fee, to the Associated Newspapers, C/O Bill Hawley, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich. 48184.

The championships annually have been sponsored by The Associated Newspapers and the recreation departments of the participating communities.

The format of the two-day tournament has golfers playing 18-holes the first day, then returning for the final round on the second day. Separate city championships are decided simultaneously for all participating cities. There will be additional flight competitions only if the number of competitors from a particular city warrants it.

Trophies will be awarded to golfers who finish in first, second and third in their flights. However, in case of a tie, a sudden death playoff will be conducted to decide the winner of the trophy.

The medalist, or low-scorer, of the entire field will be awarded a special trophy.

Also, the medalist in the Wayne championship flight will be presented the Patrolman Leonard Anderson Memorial Trophy. The trophy is offered by the Wayne Police Department in memory of Patrolman Anderson, the first police officer to be slain in the line of duty in Wayne.

The low five scorers from each of the participating communities will also be eligible to play on their city team in the state recreation finals to be staged later this year. All other golfers will become alternates in order of their finish.

Golfers must be residents of the city they represent at the state finals or the team may be disqualified.

Entries will be accepted at The Associated Newspapers offices, 35540 Michigan Ave. until 5 p.m. on Friday. The tee times for the 1991 tournament will appear in the ANP Sports Section next Thursday.

Those who have additional questions should contact ANP staff writer Tom Mooradian at 729-4000 during regular business hours, Monday through Friday.

Hotshots

Canton crowns cage champions

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It was 'Hotshot' contest time at the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department last week and future cage stars showed up to display their skills.

Contestants were tested in their skills at shooting baskets from five "hotspots" and other elements of basketball. When the shooting and scoring were completed, nearly 15 cagers strolled off the courts with trophies.

The participants were also tested in speed, shooting, dribbling and rebounding, according to Bob Dates, Canton recreation official.

Here are the results of the competition, with the player's point totals:

In the 15-18 age group, there was a tie between Clinton Byrne and Matt Abbott, who each had 53 points. Brian Covington placed third with 51 points.

In the 12-14 age group, there was another rare tie between Jon Kandes and Chris Burt who each piled up 78 points. In third place was Dan McKain, with 71.

In the boys 9-11 age group, Shawn Reynolds dominated the competition. He had 60 points, while Mark Nicole and Kevin Korchmaros finished tied for runner-up (51) honors.

In the girls 15-18 age group, Jennifer Werner outlasted Stacy Movinski. Werner's point-total was 49, seven more than the second-place finishing Movinski.

In the girls 12-14 age group, Janelle Sterling out-duelled Kathy Dankert by one point, 63-62.

Finally, in the girls 9-11 age group, Amanda Abraham won easily with 63 points; in second was Ann Kijek, with 39.

pete in divisions established by recreation officials as follows: Junior Division (17 and under) who will compete in singles and doubles; adult singles and doubles; mixed doubles; over 35 singles and doubles; and masters (over 50) singles.

There is an entry fee.

Tournament officials stressed that there must be a minimum of four players in order to stage divisional competition. Moreover, in case of inclement weather, recreation officials may be forced to change times and sites of the competition.

For further information, telephone the recreation offices at 728-7530.

Future stars

Veteran basketball Coach Chuck Henry recently conducted his annual cage camp and scores of future stars from Wayne and Westland showed up to participate in the week-long drills. The young cagers were instructed on the fundamentals of the game, and also had an opportunity to "have fun". Henry, one of the most successful high school basketball coaches in the area, coached at Walled Lake last season after a 10-year stint at Wayne. The position last year was filled by Chuck's brother, Dan. There are unconfirmed reports that Chuck Henry is one of at least three candidates being considered to take over the Wayne coaching position this fall. Above, Henry discusses assignments with players during the cage camp. ANP photo by Deanne L. DeYonker/staff photographer

Westland sets grid, hockey sign-up

Young and "old" Westland athletes who want to compete in football or hockey will have an opportunity to do so this fall.

The Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey Association is conducting registration for the 1991-92 season.

Prospective players are asked to report from 3 p.m. until 4 p.m. on this Sunday and again Aug. 11 for tryouts at the Westland Ice Arena.

The arena is located on Wildwood, north of Ford Road in Westland.

Association officials stressed that full protective gear, including a helmet, is required in order to participate in the tryout. There is also a nominal fee that will be collected at the time of the tryout.

For further information, contact Dan (728-6370) or Tom (595-0420).

Also, the Westland Youth Athletic Association Meteors coaching staff is seeking players for the 1991 season.

The Meteors will be coached by Terry Edwards and Rick Foy.

Parents who wish further information should contact Craig Phillips at 721-5244.

Nothdurft wins Anderson softball tourney title

Dream of repeat victory eludes players

By DION PRATER
ANP Special Writer

The dream of PK&J Trucking to repeat as champions at the 15th Annual Leonard J. Anderson Memorial Softball Tournament was shattered by a determined Nothdurft team last week.

The defending champ went far, but not far enough, to lay claim to the title of the prestigious softball classic.

Nothdurft was the team to beat this year. The six-time American Softball Association Master's World defending champions had all the credentials to prove it was worthy of claiming the crown.

Nothdurft of Mount Clemens took it to the past champs beating them not once but twice. Both games were convincing wins for Nothdurft as they handed PK&J its first loss in the double-elimination tournament by a margin of 15-6. In the finals, the game was closer, however, PK&J surrendered the crown in a 12-6 defeat.

Nothdurft won the title easily as the closest a team came to beating them came within six runs. They had no problem with Law Auto or Conrads as Nothdurft defeated their rivals by scores of 13-1 and 17-2 respectively. The other team to fall was Softlilies of Monroe in the opening round in a 11-5 loss.

Anderson, one of the finest all-around athletes the area has produced starred in three sports at Westland John Glenn. He excelled in football, basketball, and baseball during his high school career. After graduation he joined the police force where he was slain while responding to a domestic dispute in 1974. The tournament keeps the memory of the patrolman alive.

Nothdurft led the way for the tournament honors. They placed four members on the All-Tournament Team including Mike McDowell, Craig Seaman, Bob Stewart and Larry Reedus. Reedus was also the Most Valuable Player in the series as he hit for a .666 average with two home runs. He was also labeled an outstanding pitcher.

Representing the runner-up PK&J team were John Sampson, Bill Crews, and Mike Varana. The remaining All-Tournament lineup included: Tim Proben and Robert Siedlik from Conrads; Tom Hamilton of Adray Ford and George Williams of Adray Road. Hamilton also won the batting championship, hitting a phenomenal .782 for the tourney. Scott Virkus claimed the Home Run Derby by swatting eight out of 12 for the distance. Bill Malcolm, the 1984 and 90 MVP, hit the most homers in tournament play as he drilled five over the fence.

Tournament sponsors PK&J Trucking Softball Club and the Wayne Parks and Recreation want to thank those who showed up to watch the teams play as this year was by far the biggest crowd they ever had. They also wish to thank the sponsors who purchased ads in the program.

Travel

These days growing older is definitely an advantage. From reduced meal prices to discounted air fares, there's no longer any reason to lie about your age unless it's to ADD a few years!

One of the best senior citizen deals around is the coupon book offered by many airlines.

Available with various numbers of coupons, these books differ somewhat depending upon the airline on which we issue them. Some carriers allow travel without any restriction on the mileage, basing their requirements upon the number of coupons needed for specific destinations.

Others require a certain number of coupons for each trip based solely upon mileage. In some cases, even travel to places like Hawaii becomes less expensive by using senior citizen coupons. As with most airlines, some restrictions apply such as advance booking deadlines, length of stay or other requirements, but a little flexibility is all that's necessary.

These coupons are especially valuable at times when special promotional airfares aren't readily available. Senior citizen discounts are available at many hotels and even the cruise lines sometimes have special promotions.

However, with an airline coupon book, virtually any senior citizen can travel at a greatly reduced rate, making the other offers icing on the cake. If you're longing to see your grandchildren, or just to see some of the places you haven't had time to visit before, call us for more information on senior citizen coupon books.

Don't delay emergency care when your child is injured

By Ernest Sorini, M.D.

If you have a doubt about whether a child needs prompt medical attention after an injury, don't hesitate to call for help or go to a hospital emergency room.

Perhaps your child takes a spill at the playground, or falls off a bike. You patch up the minor scrapes and check for signs of bones that need to be set or wounds that need to be stitched. Sometimes, however, dangerous symptoms aren't observed easily. The following tips will help you recognize whether your child needs emergency care.

Observe the child

After an accident, it's important to observe your child closely for a while, watching for changes in skin color, behavior, and activity level.

Call your pediatrician or 911, or take your child to the hospital emergency room if your child:

- has sustained a head injury, especially if he or she loses consciousness, even for a few moments. A child with a head injury should be checked for possible concussion. Immediate, proper treatment will help avoid serious damage.

- shows signs of more intense pain than the injury generally warrants.
- complains of numbness or weakness.
- develops a change in overall skin color, becoming uncommonly pale, darkening in color, or turning blue in places.
- behaves strangely, showing signs of confusion, undue agitation, sleepiness, or other unusual conduct.

Above all, trust your own instincts. If you are uneasy about a child's condition, seek help promptly.

Check with your pediatrician

Before you go to the emergency room, you may want to call your pediatrician. Sometimes your doctor can advise you over the phone about immediate steps to take or first aid to give the child. Also, your doctor may want to meet you at the hospital.

In any case, your doctor should be notified of any emergency treatment your child receives. He or she most likely will be responsible for follow-up care, and all emergency records should be included in the child's medical file.

Sidewalk sales mark 40 years in Wayne

The 1991 Wayne Sidewalk Sale is fast approaching and more than 30 businesses in the city will be participating in the event.

Various items from coffee mugs to lamps will be reduced to bargain-basement prices Aug. 1, 2 and 3. Some establishments will have sale items within the stores while others will be setting up tables on the sidewalks.

Wayne celebrates 40 years of providing savings to residents. Store hours vary, but for the most part, businesses will remain open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Aug. 1 and 2 and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Aug. 3.

The tradition began in Wayne in 1951 with sales existing mainly on the sidewalk. Now, various businesses provide bargains inside and outside the establishments.

The sidewalk sale is being sponsored by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and the Wayne Merchants Association.

The following businesses will be participating:

- Bee Jay's Kitchens, 3103 Wayne Road.
- Burger King, 33450 West Michigan Ave.
- Cablevision of Wayne, 35102 West Michigan Ave.
- Cobb Pharmacy, 4603 Wayne

Merchants offer big bargains

Balloons, terrific discounts and even money will be offered to Wayne residents this weekend as the 1991 Wayne Sidewalk Sale takes off.

This year the Wayne Merchants Association is staging a money contest, according to Pat Sabourin, owner of the Country Mouse Miniatures and president of the Wayne Merchants Association.

"We have $500 in Merchant Mad Money which we will be giving out during the sidewalk sale," Sabourin said. "All you have to do is pick up an entry form at any of the businesses participating in the sidewalk sale, and then visit as many stores as you can to get a stamp on the entry form."

The more stamps an individual gets, the more chances to win money, according to Sabourin.

"We'll be drawing entry forms the following Monday for the money," Sabourin said.

The Wayne Merchants Association will be distributing helium balloons to children of all ages.

The following is a list of items individual businesses will be providing for the sidewalk sale:

COBBS PHARMACY, 4603 Wayne Road.

All sale items will be found inside the store. Cobbs is offering a special $1 sale on malts and shakes at the one-of-a-kind soda fountain.

COUNTRY MOUSE MINIATURES, 34836 West Michigan.

Owner Pat Sabourin will have everything inside and outside the store on sale. Residents will find 15-percent savings on merchandise in the store and 50-percent off of selected items.

"We have almost everything but the kitchen sink on sale," Sabourin said. "This year I also invited customers to join me in the sidewalk sale. We're going to have a flea market kind of sale with various items from residents."

CREATIVE TREASURES, 3689 Metro Place Mall.

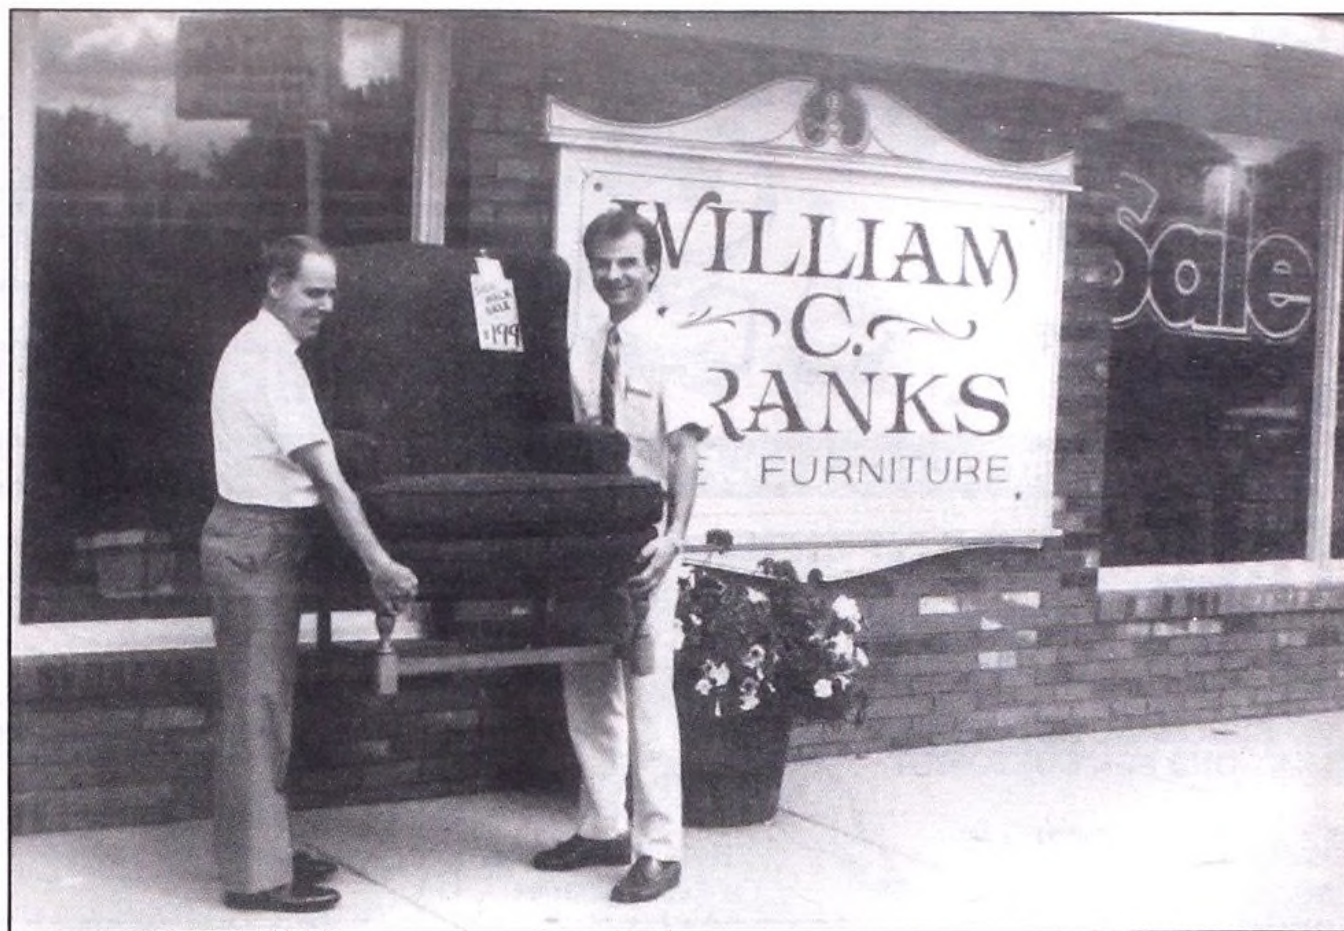

Creative Treasure owners Connie and Joe Siese will be having a total cleanout of various items at their store from coffee mugs at 25 cents to 50-percent off of selected earrings.

The Sieses are also liquidating their clothing store in the mall. Lots of bargains can be found in both stores.

DESIGNER WEARHOUSE, 35028 West Michigan.

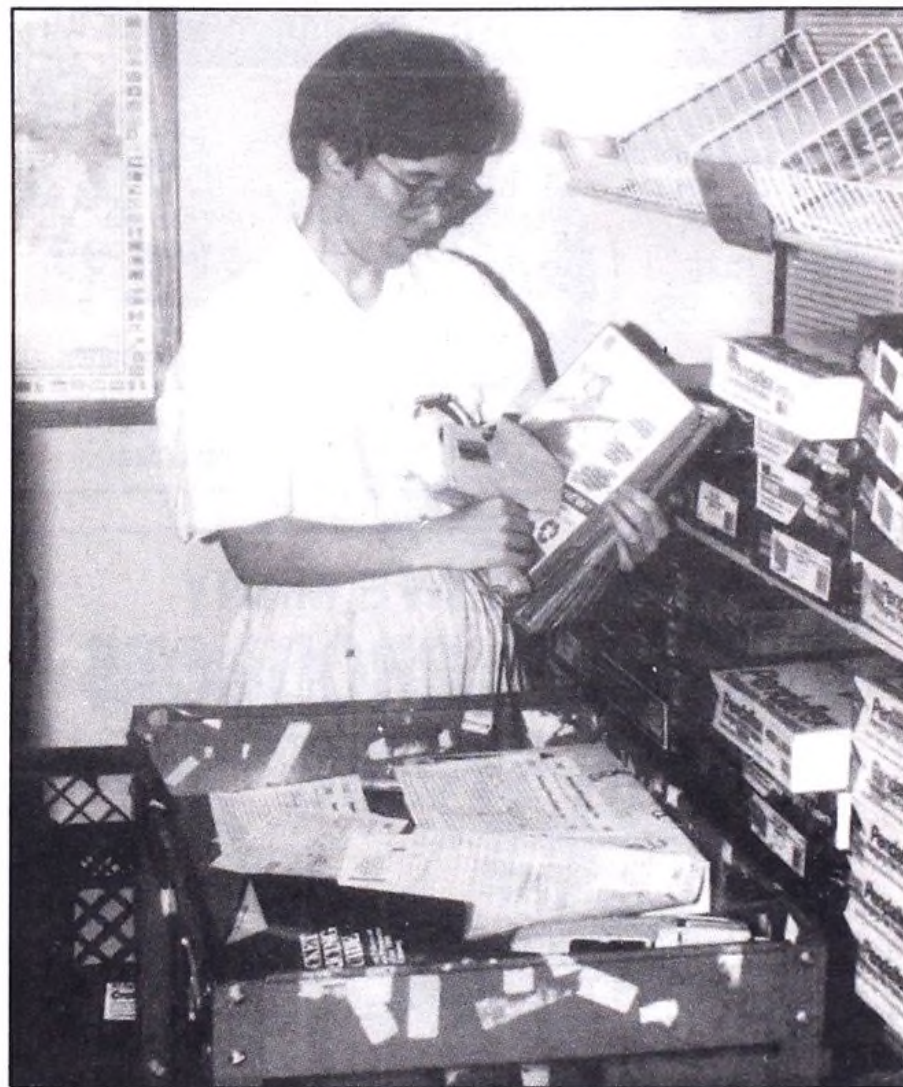

If you're in need of jeans, the Designer Wearhouse is offering three jeans for $10 in various sizes and styles for men, women and children.

Wearhouse officials will be setting up a canopy to display the sale items. All summerwear will be on sale. Designer Wearhouse will also be displaying fall fashions for children.

NORTHSIDE HARDWARE, 2912 Wayne Road.

It's back to the 1930s at Northside Hardware! Owner Phil Kaplan is offering his famous hot dog, chips and pop for 25 cents all three days of the sidewalk sale.

Kaplan will also be reducing several items in the store such as tools, electrical items and household appliances.

WILLIAM C. FRANKS FURNITURE, 2945 Wayne Road.

A little of everything will be on sale at William C. Franks Furniture. Owner Paul Franks has marked down sofas, recliners, tables, lamps and other household goods.

"We have much better prices than the summer sale," Franks said. "Prices have definitely been reduced."

Streets will not be blocked off for the sale. All residents are encouraged to come out for the sidewalk sale and support their community.
